

BUNGE EUROPE TOTAL SAFETY POLICY

Bunge Europe is committed to furthering the well-being of its stakeholders and the communities where it operates. As such, in conducting our daily business we strive for continuous improvement in Total Safety by placing the highest emphasis on People Safety, Assets Safety, Product Safety, Environment Safety and Logistic Safety.

To reach our zero accident goal in each of those areas we must build an incident and injury free culture.

We believe Total Safety will benefit all people involved in Bunge Europe activities and it will only be achieved through the constant promotion and improvement of safe working practices, control of hazards, safety awareness and commitment to safety on the part of each and every person involved, including that of our contractors.

The following represent Bunge Europe's commitment to ongoing Total Safety management:

- Seek risk minimization by applying prevention and protection principles in all operations;
- Engage all employees, contractors, suppliers and business partners in promoting a Total Safety culture;
- Provide training to employees to support the implementation of processes and procedures related to people, assets, product, environment and logistics safety;
- Promote continuous improvement and sustainable development by applying Total Safety management principles, performance indicators and risk assessment;
- Comply with the safety, environmental, feed and food legislation as with all the other requirements applicable to our processes, products and services.

Total Safety team members are responsible for the implementation of this policy and supporting policies. All employees, contractors, visitors, customers and the public have a responsibility to follow all policies and procedures and to report any hazards.

Bunge Europe expects and encourages active involvement of each of its employee in Total Safety. Everybody is responsible and accountable for Total Safety. No activity is so important or urgent that it can not be performed in a totally safe manner.

Bunge Europe Executive Committee commits to provide support and resources to achieve Total Safety.
